

David Carciere

David Carciere has a Bachelors of Science degree in Industrial Engineering from Cal Poly San Luis Obispo. Additionally, he received his Masters Degree in Land Economics and Real Estate at the Mays School of Business at Texas A&M University. At Mays, he worked under Dr. Charles Gilliland, head research economist at the Texas A&M Real Estate Center, researching and coauthoring a number of articles on the Economics of Texas Real Estate and Rural Land Markets.

Upon graduation in 2005, David returned home to Sonoma County and joined Vice Appraisal Company, specializing in the valuation of agricultural properties, primarily vineyards and plantable vineyard land. He focused on the valuation of agricultural properties exclusively until January 2010, when he partnered with Bob Gregg to form a group within the Vice Properties brokerage, specializing in land and vineyard brokerage for the wine industry.

David also handles sales and marketing for his family's boutique Russian River Valley winery, Suacci Carciere Wines, a producer of small lots of Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. This has given him a unique and valuable perspective about the wine industry and how its economics are inter-related with the economics of the land on which the fruit is grown.

David holds a California General Certified Appraisal license in addition to a California Real Estate Sales License. He's active in Sonoma County Farm Bureau's "Young Farmers and Ranchers" Sonoma-Marin chapter. He is also active in various local real estate investments.
